Helpful Hints when Ordering Invitations

- Before placing your order:
  - Confirm date, time, place for the ceremony and reception.
  - Verify spelling of all names and places that will be printed on the invitation or enclosures.
  - Double check the date your caterer needs to know the number of guests that will be attending. Make the respond date on your RSVP cards seven to ten days before, so you have time to contact the guests that have not responded.
  - Figure the quantity needed by counting the number of family units you are inviting, not the number of individuals.
- Order 25 more invitations than you think necessary for late additions, addressing mistakes, keepsakes and other reasons.
- Have your return address printed on the outer envelopes. It saves time and ensures that undeliverable invitations are returned to you.
- Have all your guests' names and addresses in a spreadsheet and we can address the envelopes for you with AddressingOnline.com -- it's a great time saver! You select the ink color and lettering for a beautiful look that matches your invitations.
- After you receive your order, completely assemble one invitation ensemble and take to the post office to determine the proper postage. This will help avoid delays and returned invitations. If you are enclosing response cards with your invitations, remember to include stamps on those return envelopes.
- Mail all invitations at the same time, six to eight weeks before the wedding date, using first-class postage.
- If you have questions, visit our store or contact us. We are here to help.
